

ROOSEVELT TO NOMINATE SMITH AGAIN

Mayor Walker To Be New York Governor's Floor Manager at Houston Convention.

TAMMANY LEADERS ARRIVE IN HOUSTON

Prepare To Open Headquarters for Nomination Candidate in Same Hotel With Reed Organization.

Houston, Texas, June 20.—(P)—Norman E. Mack, national committee member of New York, predicting nomination and election of Governor Alfred E. Smith, tonight issued a statement in which he defined the attitude of Governor Smith on prohibition.

"The governor has and always will stand for personal liberty and states' rights," Mr. Mack said. "He is opposed to prohibition. He is for temperance."

"Governor Smith believes that if any state desires a certain alcoholic content of beverage, that state has a right to determine that content. If the state wishes to be dry, then it is the right of that state to be dry."

ROOSEVELT AGAIN TO NOMINATE SMITH.

New York, June 20.—(United News.)—Franklin D. Roosevelt will nominate Governor Alfred E. Smith for the presidency at Houston, it was announced today. Roosevelt nominated Smith at the Madison Square Garden convention in 1924.

Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, will be Smith's manager at the democratic national convention, it was learned, and Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, will be a member of the resolution committee.

Walker, who will leave for Houston late Friday, is exceptionally qualified to act as floor manager, his friends say, because of the possibility of a clash on the floor of the convention with Senator James A. Reed. In case of such a battle, Tammany leaders believe Walker will be capable of holding his own as an orator in expounding the principles of Smith, democracy and Tammany.

George V. O'Ryan, Tammany Hall leader, left for Houston today. He was asked if he regarded Smith's nomination as a "let down."

"In politics," he replied, "we never make an omelet unless we have our eggs."

SMITH FORCES REACH HOUSTON.

Houston, Texas, June 20.—(P)—The first of the Tammany leaders supporting the nomination of Alfred E. Smith as the 1928 democratic standard bearer, arrived here today from New York and prepared to set up headquarters in the Rice hotel, where

MERCHANT FOUND DEAD IN STORE NEAR SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., June 20.—(P)—John Mercer, 61, storekeeper at Meigs, a small community in Chatham county near Savannah, was found shot to death in his store tonight. The body was discovered by a negro. Officers were told that three white men were seen driving away from the store earlier in the evening in a small automobile. The men were being sought by officers believed Mercer was killed by robbers.

ATLANTA CHOSEN FOR CIVITAN MEET

By a unanimous vote of the delegates attending the national convention of the Civitan clubs, now being held in Detroit, Atlanta was chosen for the 1929 convention, according to advice received in Atlanta Wednesday.

A factor which helped greatly in gaining the favor of the delegates was the presentation of the huge invitation which had been prepared by the club. The invitation was nine feet high and ten feet across and was signed by Governor Hardman, Mayor Ragsdale, Police Chief Beavers and by representatives of more than a score of civic organizations. When it was displayed before the convention it so impressed the delegates that other cities which had been bidding for next year's gathering withdrew their offers and made the selection of Atlanta unanimous.

Nearly 40 persons made up the delegation which went to the convention to aid in bringing the 1929 meet here. Herbert Hopkins, president of the Atlanta Civitans; B. C. Broyles, chairman of the convention committee, and Fred Houser, vice of the Atlanta tourist bureau, are among those who have been most active in the efforts of the local club to bring the convention here.

The date for the meeting has not been definitely set but it will take place during the latter part of June, it is said. It is expected that more than 1,000 delegates will attend the three-day session.

LOOT WORTH $500 FOUND IN HOUSE; 4 NEGROES JAILED

Loot valued at more than $500 was recovered by Detectives A. M. Austin and C. C. Chester Wednesday afternoon when they entered a house at the rear of 508 Quillian street and arrested four negroes on suspicion in connection with several recent burglaries.

Included in the stolen goods found in the house were many silk dresses, considerable other clothing and some jewelry, including two valuable watches. Part of the stolen goods has been identified as belonging to W. B. Carlton, of 817 Washington street, whose home was entered by thieves about two weeks ago. Officers are making efforts to establish the ownership of the remainder of the articles.

The negroes arrested were Elmer Jones, Annie Conklin and Daisy Wilson, all said to live at the Quillian street address, and Alice Johnson, who gave her address at 105 1-2 Decatur street.

YAARAB TEMPLE TO HONOR TEAMS IN MOSQUE DRIVE

A dance in compliment to the captains and teams for their good service in the recent drive for funds for the new Shrine temple, will be given by the Yaarab temple on Wednesday, June 27, at East Lake Country club. The affair is being sponsored by Past Potentate C. A. Bowen, Marvin Conner, chairman of the dance committee, and A. L. Dunn.

All local and visiting nobles will be admitted upon showing their 1928 Shrine cards. According to the committee which is arranging the affair, a good orchestra has been engaged, and refreshments in plentiful quantities will be furnished the guests. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock and will be on the terrace of the club-house.

Greason To Serve Georgia Fried Chicken Every Sunday to Byrd's Party in Antarctic

Commander Richard Byrd's Antarctic ship "Samson," which will carry the south pole expedition southward in September. On board will be Sidney Greason, Commander Byrd's steward, who was selected for this important assignment while steward at the Atlanta Athletic club here. The Samson arrived in New York Sunday from Norway, having made part of the trip under her own sail.

BY HELEN AND OLIVE PARISH.

Before Sidney Greason left Atlanta recently for New York to join Commander Richard E. Byrd and south pole expedition there, the former steward of the Atlanta Athletic club promised to write the news of preparing for the tremendous undertaking ahead of the antarctic party. His first word was received Tuesday morning in a letter which tells of some of the interesting things Mr. Greason is doing to be ready for all difficulties and problems which may be looked for during the two years in the south polar regions which they will head for in September.

Thirty tons of meat will be taken by the expedition. Two tons of flour is included in the Samson's stores. Twenty-five thousand pounds of sugar will sweeten the long antarctic night. One hundred and fifty crates of eggs will go into a sth pole omelets. Four thousand pounds of creamery butter will surprise Eskimos who may be around. Two thousand pounds of rice, 4,000 pounds of coffee and two tractors are other items Mr. Greason mentions. The tractors, of course, will not be eaten, but will be as necessary as the food, as they will be required to transport the food after the Samson is left behind. In the 20 tons of meat will be turkey for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners in 1928 and 1929 and Georgia chicken for every Sunday dinner for two years. Mr. Greason said that the party would have fried Georgia chicken every Sunday, "so you see the boys will not fare badly."

Mr. Greason said in his letter that members of the Byrd party were not giving out interviews, but that he was keeping his promise to write so that Wiener F. George, those interested in Atlanta might know how the preparations are going forward.

Georgia delegates to the democratic national convention will meet in Atlanta Saturday and after tendering a reception to North Carolina and South Carolina delegates will leave at 8 o'clock on a special train for Houston, Tex. It was announced Wednesday by Former Governor Clifford Walker, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Members of the Georgia delegation will meet at the Henry Grady hotel at 2:30 o'clock for a short meeting. After this session they will go to the Bankwood station to meet the visiting delegations at 3:55 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The North and South Carolina delegates will be taken for an automobile trip over the city and will be entertained at a special dinner to be tendered in their honor at the Piedmont Hotel at 6:30 o'clock.

After the dinner the members of all delegations will go to the terminal station to board the special train for Houston.

Georgia's delegates are instructed to vote for United States Senator Walter F. George for the presidential nomination.

Several persons have left Atlanta for Houston to be present at various conferences to be held preliminary to the convention. Mrs. Edgar Alexander, national democratic committee woman from Georgia, left Tuesday and will attend meetings of sub-committees on arrangements of which she is a member.

Representative Thomas M. Bell, of Gainesville, dean of the Georgia delegation, is on his way to the convention in an automobile. He will establish headquarters for the Georgia delegation at the Rice hotel in Houston.

The special train bearing the Georgia and Carolina delegates will pick up the Florida delegation at Flomaton, Ala., on the way to Houston.

TORNADOES FATAL TO DOZEN PERSONS

Kansas City, Mo., June 20.—(United News.)—Southwestern states were apprehensive tonight as reports from tornado-stricken sections brought the death toll to 12.

Wind storms, tornadoes, and cyclones that ripped through Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma continued today and threats of floods added to the danger of storms in other sections.

According to reports received a Burbank, Okla., Mrs. Harrison and her baby were killed by falling debris in a tornado that struck Webb City early today.

Child Is Killed. One child was killed, one man was injured seriously and 10 others suffered minor injuries when a twister demolished the home of Joe McKibben, two miles east of South Coffeyville, Okla., today. The child, Barbara Ewing, four-month-old daughter of Phillip Ewing, suffered a crushed skull. The baby's body was taken from the arms of her mother, who thought the child was sleeping. Eleven persons were on the upper floor of the house and the wind turned the upper floor upside down, hurling the occupants down upon six persons beneath.

Elbert Reeves, 20, was struck by a bolt of lightning during a cyclonic storm near Frederick, Okla. Several small buildings in farming communities were destroyed. Eight other persons had been reported previously as killed in storms earlier in the week.

Crops Damaged. In addition to the loss of life and property damage in the wind storms untold amount of damage was done to crops by rivers overflowing their banks as a result of abnormal rains.

Volunteers have worked for more than a week strengthening levees weakened by the deluge of water.

Swollen tributaries pouring into the Missouri river caused fears that the Missouri may flood land in some districts and a warning was issued at Columbia, Mo., today by the United States weather bureau to persons along the river between Booneville and Herman.

Central Missouri was restoring communication and transportation lines that were crippled today by the heaviest rain in years. The rainfall amounted from 2 to 6 inches and virtually all automobile and railway traffic was halted. The Burlington railroad was totally reported out of operation between St. Louis and Kansas City. All other railroads were routing trains over the Burlington tracks.

C. O. Dornance, of Arkansas City, Kans., late today rescued two boys, Archie Stevens and Henry Jorgensen, from a tree in the center of the walnut river flood. The boys had walked out on a piece of drift, and were carried out in the river and finally caught hold of the tree.

Both the Arkansas and Walnut rivers are receding in Kansas. The Verdigris river in southeastern Kansas still threatened to flood additional farm lands with a rapid rise reported at Independence, Kans. The river was out of its banks from Chanute to Oswego.

COMMANDER BYRD RECEIVES DEGREE AT PENNA. COLLEGE

Chester, Pa., June 20.—(AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd, received the honorary degree of doctor of aeronautical science at Pennsylvania Military college today. It is the first time that such a degree has been awarded.

Fight Over 95 Cents Results in Negress' Death; Husband Held

A quarrel over 95 cents caused the death of a negro woman and the arrest of her husband on murder charges Wednesday, it is believed by police.

According to testimony given Wednesday afternoon at the hearing of James Carr, the husband, of 1449 Hardie street, before Recorder Murphy M. Holloway, the negro quarreled with his wife, Annie, Wednesday morning over the sum of 95 cents which he claimed she owed him. He became enraged at her refusal to pay him, drew a pistol and shot her twice in the left side, it was stated.

Carr was arrested by Civil Officers J. S. Melton and W. O. Goode, taken before the recorder a few hours after the shooting and held over to the DeKalb county grand jury on a murder charge with no bond set in less than six hours after his wife died.

VETERANS' PENSIONS TO BE PAID IN 10 DAYS

The state pension department will be able to pay Confederate pensions for the second quarter of 1928 within 10 days, it was announced Wednesday.

Because of the scarcity of funds in the state treasury the department has been unable to pay these pensions but with heavy receipts anticipated from insurance taxes and other sources sufficient funds will soon be available to pay up the pensions for the second quarter in full. The state pays pensioners $200 a year, payable in four installments of $50 each.

BOND FORFEITURE, ARREST ORDERED FOR W. M. HEATLEY

Bond forfeiture and rearrest of W. M. Heatley was ordered Wednesday by Judge John B. Hutchinson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, presiding for Judge G. H. Howard in Fulton superior court, when Heatley failed to appear in court to answer charges of involuntary manslaughter growing out of an automobile accident on April 10 in which Gladys May Lilly was fatally injured.

Judge Hutchinson ordered another bond of $5,000 assessed against Heatley. The bond ordered forfeited was $1,500. Judge Hutchinson is presiding for Judge Howard for several days because of illness in Judge Howard's family.

TOM M'GEE PLEADS FOR TERM ON GANG; WISH IS FULFILLED

Tom McGee seems to like his job as a feeder of the hogs out at the river camp. Appearing before Judge Jesse M. Wood in city court Wednesday on a charge of vagrancy, McGee said that he could not find work except on the chawing gang and asked that he be returned to the river camp. The hogs have not been doing well since McGee left, he said. Judge Wood denied eight months sufficient when McGee asked for two years.

Anniversary. Savannah, Ga., June 20.—(AP)—The twentieth anniversary of the Rev. Joseph E. Mitchell as a priest will be celebrated tomorrow with a reception at St. Patrick's church in his honor.

FICKLING CLEMENCY HEARING UP FRIDAY

Governor L. G. Hardman will be asked Friday to extend executive clemency to George Fickling, of Savannah, condemned to be electrocuted Saturday at Milledgeville following his conviction on a charge of killing of Dan Strickland in Savannah about a year ago. The plea for a commutation of the death sentence to a sentence of life imprisonment will be made by Mercer Jordan, Savannah attorney.

The governor will not arrive in Atlanta until Thursday night. He has been attending the commencement exercises of the University of Georgia and will attend a business conference to be held at Commerce Thursday. Fickling has been taken to Milledgeville and will be executed Saturday unless the governor interferes in his case.

NASH presents a New and Finer Motor Car

New Twin Ignition Motor New Salon Bodies

"The three new Nash '400' Series, which are being introduced everywhere today, achieve the ambition of my manufacturing career.

"They represent an entirely new type of motor car, priced moderately, but offering you all the beauty and quality and performance heretofore exclusive to very expensive automobiles.

"To create such a car we had to develop an entirely new type of design and invest over $2,500,000 in dies and machinery alone.

"Both the Salon bodies and the high compression motors which power these new models exemplify the most radically modern advancement in body craftsmanship and engineering.

"Naturally space precludes the full listing of all features but I do want to draw your attention to a number of the outstanding attractions such as:—

"—Twin ignition, high compression, Bohnalite aluminum alloy pistons with Invarstruts, 7-bearing crankshaft with hollowed crankpins, Bijur centralized chassis lubrication, Houdaille and Lovejoy shock absorbers, Biflex-Nash bumpers and bumperettes, chrome plating over nickel for all exterior metal ware, double-drop frame, one-piece Salon fenders and longer wheelbase lengths.

"This new-type engineering of the '400' motors makes them by far the best performing cars I have ever built.

"I don't think anyone will ever want to use all the speed and power they deliver.

"Equipment is absolutely complete at the factory list price and you need buy no extras except a spare tire.

"If my judgment is worth anything you will find it well worth while today to examine this new automobile development with the greatest care."

THREE MORE QUALIFY FOR STATE PRIMARY

The state democratic executive committee received $450 additional money Wednesday to help pay expenses of the primary to be held September 12, when three candidates qualified with Mrs. Bessie Anderson, secretary of the committee.

Those who paid their entrance fees Wednesday were Perry T. Knight, Valdosta, candidate for the public service commission; Hill C. Tuggle, Stone Mountain, and A. H. Hendee, Barnesville, candidates for places on the state prison commission.

Mr. Knight is running to fill the unexpired term of the late C. R. Bennett on the public service commission. He was appointed to serve in this place until the general election in November by Governor L. G. Hardman.

Mr. Tuggle will make the race for the prison commission as an opponent of Judge H. E. Davidson, chairman of that body, who is running for reelection.

Mr. Hendee will run for the place on the commission now held by Judge G. A. Jones, of Winder, who was appointed to serve in this post until the general election as successor of the late Judge T. E. Patterson. Mr. Hendee made the race for prison commissioner against Judge Patterson six years ago.

The entry books will be closed promptly at noon Saturday and considerable interest is being shown among state politicians in last-minute announcements. Many rumors have been circulated that there will be some surprises on the last day and that several well-known citizens are preparing to make their announcements for state offices.

26 ATLANTA BOYS CAMP ON SHORES OF LAKE BURTON

Twenty-six boys in various residential districts of this city were awakened early Wednesday by the notes of reveille, blown noisily in front of their homes by Hollis L. Watson, official bugler of Camp Cherokee. The boys were gathered in a big interurban bus and started out toward the camp on the shores of Lake Burton to spend their summer vacations.

The party was entertained at lunch in Gainesville by Mrs. J. H. Fowner and reached the camp Wednesday night to be greeted by Mrs. Ross McConnell, director of the camp. Clarence Rose, Emory graduate and counselor of the camp, was in charge of the trip.

GEORGIA MEN NAMED AS RESERVE OFFICERS

Recent appointments by the war department, to the Organized Reserve Corps numbered 40 from the Fourth Corps area. Each of the eight southeastern states comprising the corps are represented by one or more appointments. North Carolina with 14 furnishing the largest quota. The Georgia appointments are:

Withers, second lieutenant infantry, Moultrie; Thomas J. Irwin, second lieutenant infantry, Macon; and William W. Wilson, second lieutenant infantry, Macon.

YOUR BATH

Made delightfully refreshing by palm and olive oils in this famous soap

WOMEN by the thousands who keep their good complexions by the use of palm and olive oil soap have learned how delightfully refreshing a soothing, cleansing bath of these beauties can be. Atlanta. These oils, embodied in the famous beauty soap Palmolive, are now within the reach of all. Skin radiantly clear, gloriously soft, results from its continued use.

A stimulating warm bath made luxurious with the emollient lather of Palmolive refreshes a tired body at night—tones the skin in the morning—leaves you in a single of freshness all day long.

Many Striking Features Embodied in New Nash Cars

Twin-ignition, high compression engines, and custom finished, salon type bodies in the way of list of advancements new to the American automobile industry when the Nash Motor company formally introduces its exclusive "400" series of cars to the motoring public at the Martin-Nash company today.

This impressive presentation of 16 entirely new models, engineered to a degree of operating efficiency and riding comfort never before attained in the same price class, is the answer of C. W. Nash to a universal demand for luxurious motor transportation at moderate cost, officials stated Wednesday. It is also a fulfillment of personal engineering ambitions that have extended over 36 years of sound successful manufacturing in the vehicle field, they added.

"It has been the dominating ambition of my whole manufacturing experience," Mr. Nash said in commenting on his company's crowning achievement, "to develop a line of cars of moderate price which would have everything in the way of appearance, performance, comfort and quality that the company's costliest cars offer. This ideal has been completely realized, I believe, in the new '400' series. More than $2,500,000 has been invested in dies and machinery alone to enable us to build this entirely new type of motor car. Nothing I might say could emphasize this: It has been the ambition of my career to build such a car as the '400'."

Three Complete Groups. Three complete groups of cars, equipped with the new motors of revolutionary but proved principles, enclosed bodies that set new high standards in coach building, and with a dozen separate but perfectly coordinated advancements in design and equipment, are included in this Nash offering to a nation of experienced and appreciative automobile users.

All models are equipped with full hydraulic shock absorbers, front and rear—Houdaille on the advanced six and Lovejoy on the special and standard six. Bigger centralized lubricating system, on the advanced six models, sends oil automatically to meters oil changes to 21 chassis points at the depression of a convenient foot pedal. All of the new models embody engineering accomplishments of unusual interest to both the industry and the public. The most striking performance feature, however, lies in the twin-ignition, high compression motor finally developed by Nash engineers after months of intensive experimenting and exhaustive tests. This motor unites for the first time in the history of automotive engineering multiple ignition, high compression, the valve-in-head engine principle, the seven-bearing crankshaft improved with hollow crank pins, and aluminum alloy pistons which employ embedded invarstruts to guarantee the closest possible fit.

Engineering Accomplishments. Briefly, these engineering accomplishments and their relationship to one another, may be explained as follows: Twin-ignition is perfected at last by the use of 12 new "air-craft" metric type spark plugs instead of the customary six, one throwing its measured flashes of white heat into each cylinder head and one flashing into the cylinder proper. Their combined operations give each of the six cylinders 300 flashes per second at top speed with a resulting thoroughness in combustion, smoothness in motor operation and maximum economy in the fuel consumed. The high compression pressures are brought about by the new symmetrically shaped combustion chambers which have been reduced in size to give each

SCRUB BULLS TO FACE 'MOCK TRIAL' IN STATE

The "scrub bulls" of Georgia's dairy cattle herds are about to go on trial for their lives.

County agents, in cooperation with the state department of agriculture, the Georgia association, and the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast railroad, plan to sponsor a series of mock trials at which the "prosecution" will attempt to show that the "scrub bull" is a vagrant and an undesirable, and so deserving of banishment forever from Georgia's farms.

The purpose of the movement was said to be that of encouraging the keeping of purebred sires only by dairymen and farmers of the state.

Preliminary to the Ashburn event a "purebred sire train," the first of a number to be run in various parts of the state, will be sent to Ashburn and other points along the A. B. & C. railroad, the announcement said. Included in the train, it was said, will be a carload each of purebreds, Holsteins, Ayrshires, Jerseys and Guernseys, all of them registered and having dams with a butter fat record of from 400 to 600 pounds. It is planned to offer the animals for sale at 25 per cent less than the regular price, with no charge made for freight.

Educational facilities will also be provided on the train, it was announced, plans being made for a number of lectures on the breeding and management of cattle, feeding, growing of feed and the mixing of balanced rations.

Dairy utensils will be exhibited on the train, it was announced, and a number of demonstrations arranged for presentation along the road.

EAST POINT CHAMBER WILL HOLD BANQUET

The annual banquet of the East Point Chamber of Commerce will be held tonight in the Masonic temple at East Point. Ed L. Humphries, president, will act as master of ceremonies and speakers will include Senator Ed Rivers, Walter Stewart and the Rev. C. K. Hutto.

MOTORCADE PARTY TO ARRIVE FRIDAY

A Porterdale-to-Atlanta motorcade, consisting of more than 40 automobiles, will arrive here Friday morning as the guests of the chamber of commerce. The group will be met at Avondale Estates by motorcycle policemen, who will act as escorts. The motorists plan to visit the state capitol, Emory university, the Grant park zoo and the Federal building.

$2,000 DAMAGE CAUSED
BY FIRE AT RESIDENCE

A fire, of undetermined origin caused $2,000 damage to the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Harden, at 822 St. Charles avenue early Wednesday morning. The blaze originated on the second floor of the dwelling and burned away a part of the roof.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

BUILT BY ZONE BONDS.

The Brunswick-Jacksonville link of the permanently paved coastal highway between Savannah and Jacksonville was opened Wednesday, thus completing the first stateline-to-state-line paved thoroughfare
in Georgia. The Savannah-Brunswick link had been opened several months ago.

This great interstate highway, extending from the eastern states, and skirting the Atlantic seaboard to the north Florida metropolis, where it connects with paved highways reaching through that state in every direction, is one of the most important traffic arteries in the country and has been designated as one of the federal system.

The formalities attending the opening will be held July 11, and Harvey Granger, of Savannah, chairman of the coastal highway board,
and to whose vision and indefatigable energy the completed highway stands as a monument, will have charge of the program.

The completion of this first through-state paved highway emphasizes the wisdom of bonding—
that is, the capitalization of fixed resources—for doing speedily and efficiently that which cannot be accomplished in years under the "pay-
as-you-go" plan, and which can never be done in Georgia so long as the county shall remain the unit,
and be required to provide an "aid,"
or lose its link of paving, thereby creating the crazy-quilt, zig-zag
method of through road construction.

The coastal counties of Georgia,
from the South Carolina to the Florida lines, by special act of the legislature, submitted and ratified,
were enabled to combine into a bonding zone for the purpose of building this highway. The bonds were overwhelmingly carried. State and federal cooperation was provided, the work began with the proceedings of the bond sale, under the supervision of the state board, closely followed and checked by the special coastal board, with the result that Georgia's link of the Savannah to the St. Mary's rivers has been completely paved, miles of it through marsh lands that had to be built up for the road beds,
and all within a time less than the state board, with all of its resources,
has completed that amount of millions of permanent paving in the entire state of Georgia, all stretches
in various sections being computed in a total.

What the coastal counties, by the bonding plan—the counties
combining in one unit—has accomplished is that it will employ the same method as to the whole.

It is a striking and an unanswerable argument in favor of the statewide bonding system for permanently paving Georgia's network of roads at once, and without broken links, and indefinite, costly and irritating delays.

SOUTH AND THE NAVY.

Southern men have always played an important part in the navy. It is notable that in recent promotions
the south has held its own in that respect.

Five new naval captains, four of whom have been connected with the aviation branch of the service, have been promoted to the rank of rear admirals.

Their promotions, along with the selection of 12 commanders to become captains and 14 lieutenant commanders to become commanders,
have just been approved by President Coolidge at the summer
white house in Wisconsin.

Of the five promoted to rank of rear admirals to fill vacancies by retirement and death two are southerners, as follows: Captain Walt T. Claverius, of New Orleans, commander of the battleship West Virginia, which won the battle of Cebu in 1904; and Captain
Albert W. Marshall, of Greenville, Texas, commander of the aircraft

carrier Lexington which recently established a new speed record, and the first of his rank to become an aviation pilot.

Of the commanders promoted to captains the following are from the south: Wilhelm Lefriedell, of Tex-arkana, Ark.; Isaac F. Dortch, Gadsden, Ala.; Gordon W. Haines, Savannah, Ga.; John W. Wilcox, Jr., Macon, Ga. Each had won decorations for distinguished services.

Among the lieutenant commanders selected to become commanders
are the following southerners: Archibald McGlasson, Burlington, Ky.; William N. Richardson, Jr., Harris,
Ala.; Charles M. Elder, Cordale, Ga.;
Henry T. Settle, Frankfort, Ky.;
Rush S. Fay, Baltimore, and Charles
M. Cook, Jr., Ft. Smith, Ark.

Thus it is shown that while the people of the south are moving ahead in material affairs they are pre-eminently "at the front" also in all branches of national defense.

FLAGRANT ABUSE OF JUSTICE.

The annals of criminal jurisprudence in America does not disclose
a more flagrant abuse of justice than in the case of George Remus, the millionaire bootlegger who killed his wife in cold blood, and is today as free as the judge who tried him,
and as the jurors who found him
"insane."

Eventual freedom was predicted
for Remus, whose financial ability permitted the employment of highly paid attorneys, with his case handled under a system of criminal law administration in this country that invites the cheating of justice and interminable delays in the execution of sentences, culminating in far too
many escapes from punishment.

The Constitution, following the verdict of the Cincinnati jury,
which was a shameful travesty in a court of justice, declared its opinion
that in a short time the arch murderer would again be turned loose upon society to carry on, if he so elected, his criminal pursuits which had landed him in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta before he took the life of his wife, without giving her a chance for defense or even a warning of his bloody purpose.

The plea of "emotional insanity"
at the time of the commission of the crime brought the escape from the chair. It was followed by a wild orgy of underworld celebrating in Cincinnati, in which even members of the jury are alleged to have participated. Following his incarceration, as a highly privileged "inmate" in the Ohio asylum, the plea was then made that he was sane—
his "insanity" having lasted, as he claimed, only during the brief period that he was assassinating his defenseless victim. Application for release on habeas corpus was made and denied and made again before
the court of appeals and sustained.
The state then appealed and the Ohio state supreme court sustained the court of appeals, and he was immediately liberated from the asylum.

"We are through with it," said
the state's attorney, thus admitting that justice has lost, and without further recourse to remedy the miscarriage.

The Remus escape from punishment had already incited other murders, and again his final release may
—and doubtless will—open the door to a floodtide, as horrible as the contemplation.

It is a challenge to the law abiding citizenry of America to bring about quick reforms in criminal laws and practice. If George Remus had committed his cold-blooded crime in England he would have paid long before this—and society would have felt, as it does in the old world—the strengthening influence of legal protection. That is why there are more major crimes
in one day in America than in all of the British Isles in a year.

WATCH FOR WEEVILS.

The state department of entomology has been advised of weevil emergence in several sections of Georgia. The spring was unseasonably cold. The precipitation has been greater than usual. Therefore cotton is generally late, especially in the central and northern sections of the state.

The fact that the emergence is not as heavy as in years passed should not mislead the farmers. Indications are just as have been noted
by the state entomologist—that bot weevil infestation this year is likely to be heavy.

Farmers should prepare for the fight. If they do not have to fight, so much the better. But if they do—
and many of them will have to—fight and fight hard—then ample preparation in time is the only wise course.

Calcium arsenate has been officially established as the one reliable poison to use. The board of entomology can give full instructions.
Most cotton farmers know by this time, anyway.

In the meantime intensive cultivation is necessary. Every effort should be made to make more cotton to the acre by good farming. The weevil is not a reason for serious alarm unless the farmer treats infestations with indifference. In that event it is not more alarming than the prospect of a sheriff at the front gate later on.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Sex Play

In Berlin.

An unknown author is stirring all Berlin with a sex play called: "Krankheit der Jugend, (Disease of Youth).
The play is a success in Berlin, Vienna and Munich, but no audience has ever seen the author. He refuses to appear, refuses even to make the acquaintance of the manager. The story tells that he is a young doctor, who lives at least part of the year in Rheims and makes occasional excursions
into the wilds of Moptarnasse.

The play itself is interesting. More psychology than action, perhaps. There are one or two things one has never seen on any stage. Notably that where the jealous Marion seizes hold of her successful rival and splendid creature
with red hair, and after a dual, unravels her long red hair, ties it firmly to the cupboard, and leaves her as a prisoner and a prisoner there while she rushes out to fetch the lover to witness his new love's humiliation. The third act is a catastrophe, however.

Not knowing what to do with this collection of erotic young anomalies
he has conjured up, the author
kills them off, literally or morally.
One drifts out onto the streets. Another dies in the bedroom next door (with open door) of an overdose of
stage when the lights suddenly switch out are busily and presumably successfully engaged in throttling each other.

"Father O'Flynn."
That the well-known Irish song,
"Father O'Flynn," was taken from real life, was revealed by its author,
Dr. Graves, to an inquiring London reporter. "His prototype was the Reverend Michael Walsh, parish priest of Killebrone, county Kerry, who was all and more than I described him to be. 'Pow'rful preacher, and a tinderest teacher, and kindest caretaker in old Donegal.' Father Walsh kept a 'back of beagles, which came of Dan O'Connell's famous dogs, and the last time I saw him walking and the singing match, when he was resting with his younger beagles and shouting and waving on older dogs after a doubling here. 'Father O'Flynn' was composed to a Kerry variant of 'The Top of the Cork Road,' a tune to which I had often danced the Irish jig, said
the author. 'At the home office I sat down at my desk and wrote the song straight off. When a new book of songs came before him Stanley picked out 'Father O'Flynn,' twinkled as he hummed it over, and called out, 'I've got something here for a treble encore,
and he got it too. The song sailed into success then, and earned a great deal of money.'"

Ten Years Ago.

All this week, 10 years ago, there was attack and counter-attack around Rheims and over the plain of Champagne. I went over the ground last week and saw that the shell-holes
have been filled in, but their places
are still marked by a white deposit
where the ground was disturbed in the war. Every field has these circular surface marks, and if you go along the road southeast from Rheims, towards La Ferté, you pass the Fort de Pompelle on your right, just as it was, with the trenches unfilled and the rusty wire still swinging in the wind. The Germans took it one day 10 years ago, and then the French retook it; and there is a mark set up there to show the farthest point reached by the German tide before it began to recede.

Timely Views of Noted Americans

TOO MUCH FEDERAL CONTROL AND INTERFERENCE

BY ALBERT C. RITCHIE

Governor of Maryland.

(Albert C. Ritchie was born in Richmond, Va., in 1876. He was admitted to the bar, Ritchie practiced law in 1900. He was elected as assistant governor of Maryland from 1903 to 1910. Ritchie served as assistant general counsel to the Chamberlain administration in Baltimore from 1910 to 1912. He was elected governor of Maryland from 1916 to 1920.
Ritchie was re-elected governor in 1920. Ritchie was re-elected governor in 1924.)

Instead of undertaking to standardize morals, personal conduct, habits, child labor and education, a government should expend its funds for purposes that are purely national.

Musical is the right to expect every great national government to aid and nourish it, and every one does,
save only the United States of America.

Excessive governmental regulation and control in various fields of activity and the unwise and discriminatory system of making federal appropriations in exchange for the supply of the states of their local control over home affairs are examples of the excess of state interference in this country's affairs.

We do not take politics seriously.
We have become so used to being battered and befuddled that its real meanings and values are largely lost.

How to re-awaken the nation to the meaning of political life is far more important than who is elected to office. If Plato were here next fall he would double the relation between our love of jazz music and our tolerance of jazz politics.

The campaign will demonstrate that the electorate is more worried up by their prejudices over matters, such as prohibition, that are inherently religious and moral than by their opinions on really political issues.

As a moral issue in politics properly seems destined to continue in almost hopeless confusion because its moral aspects obscure political realities, it is precisely the sort of problem that cannot be solved to the tune of political jazz.

No Man Ever Gets Embarrassed While Remembering How Important He Is

By Robert Quillen

An Atlanta girl and a Washington boy appeal to me for advice, and their pleas are identical: "What causes my morbid self-consciousness, and how can I overcome it?" I am answering them publicly because their kind is legion.

Self-consciousness is not a state or a result of timidity. It is an abnormal state of mind: a fixed mental habit that results from minding one's p's and q's too closely.

Why do people mind their p's and q's? To please other people.
And since that is their purpose, it is inevitable that they should wonder how well they have achieved it.

"I try so hard to make a good impression," they say. "I wonder if I do. And then they turn their eyes upon themselves and try to see themselves as others see them. From morning until night they watch themselves, and under that critical scrutiny they suffer agonies of embarrassment."

When they talk, they are constantly aware of their grammar and their tone of voice, and at the end of each sentence they must pause to swallow; when they listen, they are aware of their tightening face muscles and they wonder if their smile looks natural or strained; talking or listening they feel conspicuous until panic makes them numb.

It is a ghastly existence in which every contact with a fellow mortal brings torture.

But the cause isn't hopeless. There are cures.

If you become keenly interested in your work or play, you forget self, but that is a temporary expedient, like showing the baby a watch to make it forget its crying.

You can associate with people whose good opinion you scorn and thus get relief; for when you are indifferent to public opinion you relax and feel at ease as though alone; but this, also, is temporary.

Permanent relief must wait upon a change in yourself.

You are self-conscious because you think you are being watched, whereas you are not. You are aware of you, not one in a thousand studies you closely. Other people are like you; do you watch everybody narrowly?

You are self-conscious because you wish to make a good impression. To achieve that end, you are playing-acting. You are "strutting your stuff."

Wells quit it. Forget the audience. For one day or one hour, humbly indifferent to what people may think, remembering that neither you nor their opinion has importance, act just as you please.

Be grimly indifferent, deliberately humble and recklessly natural.
Make a game of it for an hour and you have won.

The tramp is at ease because he knows he doesn't matter; you are at ease with him because his opinion doesn't matter. There is the whole of it.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

Bridgeport, Conn.
Do you believe it is a right
and proper thing for a church
and some of its societies to depend to a large extent upon card playing for benevolent funds? I have noticed in our church that women
stand in the hallways selling tickets for card parties, both before and after the Sunday morning service, to be given by one or the other of the church societies.

These card games are played in the parlors and in the basement of the church and prizes are given.
It seems to me that this is a disgraceful thing. I prefer to have the church societies depend upon an unwarranted extreme. Would you care to comment on such activities?

Churches should seek men and women for what they are, not for what they have. On the other hand, if a church is to be a church, it should seek to organize and support institutions that they do not require income derived from illicit methods for their sustenance.

Few churches known to me approve of games vitiated by gambling or near-gambling practices. Instead, they are aware of the destructive hold this vice has on certain social groups and protest against
it. It would be well for all churches
to do likewise, and to raise their funds in ways which flavor them with sacred gifts.

These card games are played by church societies they should not lower the dignity and reverence due God's sanctuary by the methods you properly criticize. They can be played, however, in a way that is not a disgrace to the church. As a source of amusement or interest they are as legitimate in themselves as chess or tennis. Follow the apostle's advice and let everything
be done decent and in order."

New Brunswick, N. J.
What do you think of the cremation of the bodies of the dead? It always strikes me as being an unnatural means of disposing of the dead. I have heard of it, and I have seen it, and I do not like it. Do you think it is right or against the process?

Does not your difficulty arise from the failure to distinguish between the living personality and the dead body?
It would be well for all churches
to do likewise, and to raise their
funds in ways which flavor them with
sacred gifts.

The ancient races connected it with the idea of the resurrection.
The strength of empires in their observance. The Egyptians brought embalming to a high state of perfection because they believed that the

New York, June 20.—After Winchell tells how Eddie Cantor sang himself out of a "ticket" for traffic violation, Eddie, minus his burnt cork, street song and bow tie, and with his growth of whiskers, was driving across Queensboro bridge when halted.
When produced his license he was asked to get out of the car. "Eddie Cantor, eh?" Well, you don't look like him. Got any other identification? Eddie failed to find any, and gave himself up for lost.

"Say," the cop went on, "I got some Eddie Cantor records at home. Sing something. So what a line you are in, and the cop rested a hoof appreciatively on the running board of the auto, Cantor warbled a verse and a chorus of "You'd Be Surprised."
The song, and a promise to send around two tickets to a show to "the missus," won him freedom.

The Broadway association, composed of merchants and property owners, has an annual 20-cent celebration the other day, and a lot of bright habits discovered that Broadway
was a thoroughfare bounded by Wall street and some remote place north of Fifty-third (street), but runs right
on and on, through Yonkers, away up the Hudson river valley to Troy and beyond.

The discovery has bestowed such wonderment that some Times square news hounds are reporting that the daring expedition to see what inhabitants of the far reaches of the street
are like, wild or tame. Dr. Frederick Cook has been suggested as leader of the expedition, which would be in the "chamber of horrors" or the "congress of freaks," I am told. Folks always like to see something new,

and the more they see the more they want to see. The woman who gazes at the fattest lady on earth or the bearded lady gets joy out of the idea that she is just as human as the superficial hairs are as nothing; and the husband who sees the representation
in wax of the Snyder-Gray murder-ess is the same. It is the same with the "Drive my dog to Sitka, Alaska."

Incidentally, an enterprising concession man proposed to sell souvenir sashweights to wives who visited the exhibit and were properly impressed.
He discarded the idea after some friendly admonitions from the police.

At 11 o'clock the other night two men and a woman entered a party
in an East Seventy-third street mansion. The man was wearing a tuxedo and the woman a dress. They were looking for a place to stay. The man was a doctor and the woman a nurse.

NECESSARY?

A reader writes: Recently my daughter, aged 15, developed chronic nasal catarrh. Treatments of the specialist are costing about $8 a week,
which I am almost unable to afford, as I am a widow working to send my daughter through school. Could you recommend a treatment which we could use at home which would cure
her?

This query puts me between the devil and the deep sea. On the one hand, I am certain it is all nonsense running to a specialist about such a simple condition; any good family physician can treat it as successfully and probably at less expense, if the family is not obsessed with the silly notion that a "specialist" knows more than an "ordinary doctor." Perhaps in the old days a nose and throat specialist would or could examine, diagnose and treat conditions within the nose
more skillfully than the family doctor. But not today. Every family physician who is worth his salt as a medical adviser is equipped and trained and perfectly competent to do this work for his patients. If the patient is sensible in his choice of physicians, the family doctor will of his own volition refer the patient to this or that specialist whenever it may be for the patient's best interest to have special advice or service. People who have the specialist habit and no particular medical adviser are too prone to think that "ordinary doctors" are like to permit such consultations. On the other hand, I can assure this good mother and many others who seek a catarrh cure or a home treatment for catarrh that there is nothing of the kind that will prove worth while.

I have tried earnestly to explain that the term "catarrh" has no definite meaning, and that the diagnosis and treatment of the exceedingly common chronic or long standing troubles of the upper breathing tract
that are masked under this meaningless name is ordinary routine work for any competent family medical practitioner. It is the duty of the head of the family to cut loose from any family doctor who has not the simple equipment and the knowledge and the ordinary skill to make an examination of the interior of the nasal cavity and the throat and treat the everyday conditions he finds there. For the welfare of the family a physician should be employed who is capable of taking care of such troubles. If your doctor dismisses such complaints
with an evasive suggestion that you try this or that nostrum, and without a look see, he is not a good man to have for your family medical adviser.

No nose or throat specialist, be he ever so good in his limited field, can give you a cure for your chronic troubles. He can only relieve the troubles by the use of his skill and knowledge of the anatomy and physiology of the nose and throat.

There are still some people so credulous and some publications so misleading that they are misled by specialists and quacks can remain in business. These gentry angle for and catch a few of the unsuspecting victims of the "catarrh" delusion who find the nose and throat specialist too expensive, and imagine the "ordinary"
doctor doesn't understand catarrh.

Do not be misled. A good home treatment or a nostrum, as does this good mother, if any medication applied at home can do any good, a family doctor will not fail to recommend it.

What are the leading passages in the Old and New Testaments upon the authority of which we preach-
One of the best answers to your inquiry is contained in chapter xxi
of a little book by Dr. Edwin Lewis, entitled: "A Manual of Christian Doctrine," published by Charles Scriven's Sons. By all means consult it.

The Hebrew belief in immortality
began in primitive fashion and had a slow development. It seems to have originated in the Old Testament in that passion for posterity which the story of Abraham illustrates. Later, in the great Pauline passages, and in the New Testament, attention concentrated on the individual's persistence beyond death and this persistence was ultimately identified with the soul.

Study the following passages: Genesis xv, 13; Job xiv, 25-27; Psalms
lxxiii, 25-30; Isaiah xvi, 19; Eccelasmus ix, 10. Philippians iii, 20-21.

In the New Testament the belief in immortality is based upon the teaching and resurrection of our Lord,
the great Pauline passages, and the testimony of the Johannine writings,
that in Christ we have eternal life.
The great Pauline passages, and the parable of Dives and Lazarus, the description of Judgment in St. Matthew xxv; St. John's Gospel from the Resurrection by the four evangelists, I Corinthians xv; II Corinthians v, 1-10; Philippians iii, 20-21.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Flip a Coin.
Two doctors have told me my daughter, aged 15, is developing a goiter. Could you advise me what to do about it? (Mrs. G. H.)

Answer: Well, it requires only one, usually, to cure it. Flip a coin. If it comes heads, consult one of the doctors; if it comes tails consult the other. If you have no coin—then consult the family doctor. Please understand, Mrs. G. H., I cannot advise what treatment your daughter needs,
as that would be rather dangerous for me to do. I can only suggest that you consult one of the doctors, or the family doctor, and let him advise you.

Weather or Not.
My doctor says I have bursts in my arm and he has treated me
with medicine for several months,
but he says it will not leave him
entirely until we get settled warm weather. I suffer dreadfully with it at times, especially when I lift anything. Please tell me what I could do to get some relief. (S.
D. D.)

Answer: Find a physician who gives diagnosis and treatment. I would not suggest something one might do about the weather. I have thought of a good deal about this spring, turned over many a scheme to bring comfort to the weather man, but it is no good.
However, if you can get diathermy treatment, it may be just as effective as settled warm weather. Sometimes the bursa (friction pad or cushion)
is infected and the trouble persists.
It is surgically drained or removed. But I think I'd like to have a course of

'BIG BILL' MUST REPAY HUGE SUM

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—More than $150,000 in "experts' fees," much of which was found to have been diverted into campaign coffers of Mayor William Hale Thompson, was ordered repaid to the city treasury today by decision of Judge Hugo Friend in circuit court.

Holding Mayor Thompson and six political associates and real estate men accountable for the illegal payments, made during the Thompson regime in 1920 and 1921, Judge Friend rebuked the defendants for entering the conspiracy which he found was formed for the dual purpose of "financing the political activities of the Thompson organization and for the private benefit of the members of the conspiracy."

Restitution Ordered.

The court directed Mayor Thompson, Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements; George F. Harding, then city controller and now county treasurer; Percival B. Coffin, public administrator, and three real estate men to make restitution of $1,732,279, less $128,912 already remitted by two other defendants who were discharged.

The Chicago Tribune instituted the suit in 1921, seeking as a taxpayer to recover money which it charged was diverted into Thompson funds at a time when an important campaign required financing. It was alleged that the real estate men were hired on the municipal payroll, regardless of their fitness, to make expert appraisals of property.

Neither Take Stand.

Neither Thompson nor Harding took the stand, but their counsel contended they acted in good faith as officials in employing the experts. Judge Friend took occasion to ensure the two for failing to testify.

Mayor Thompson was not in court when the verdict was read. Later he issued a statement asserting that "through the efficiency of the law department and the experts" in the litigation over the property appraisals "every suit was won in the interest of the city, which saved the taxpayers many millions of dollars. Judge Friend's decision is beyond my comprehension, and I shall fight on in the interest of the people and the city, but I believe that justice shall be meted out in the higher courts."

64 FOUND GUILTY IN AMERICUS RUM LAW PROSECUTIONS

Americus, Ga., June 20.—(AP)—One defendant out of 65 charged with violation of the federal prohibition law was declared not guilty before Judge Bascom Weaver in federal court here today. Sumter county jail was filled almost to overflowing as a result of fines and sentences imposed. The fines ranged from five to five hundred dollars with jail sentences from 30 days to four months. The arrests were made early last week, following several days of work by undercover men and 10 federal officers.

KIWANIANS HEAR OF PACIFIC PEOPLE

Seattle, Wash., June 20.—(AP)—Civilization is entering upon a new era whose theater is to be the Pacific ocean, Dr. John Mackay, president of Manitoa college, told the 12th annual convention of Kiwanis International here today.

"It has become a commonplace," Dr. Mackay said, "to say that we have entered on the Pacific era of human development. The Christian era opened on a Mediterranean world. The discovery of America changed the center of human activity to the Atlantic basin, where it has remained for nearly 400 years. But once again the scene is shifting for the greatest chapter in human history."

He gave his audience a rapid summary of changing conditions in the Pacific, emphasizing the fact that "backward races" are awakening and absorbing the ideals of an industrial age.

"We have gone to the east with the conviction that we had evolved the one civilization worth while... But the yellow man and the brown men are taking our measure. One of the best-known educational leaders of the United States said, 'I am persuaded that the civilization of the future States has begun to disintegrate. Our worship of money, the decay of family life, the increase of crime... all point to a disease in the stream of our civilization.'"

While the women attended an entertainment in their honor at the Bremerton, Wash., navy yard, the men divided into five groups to attend a series of conferences dealing with the major objectives of Kiwanis.

ROTARY SELECTS FOREIGN CHIEFS

Minneapolis, June 20.—(AP)—After finding itself of one mind to such an extent that two principal officers were filled by acclamation, Rotary International today nominated directors for the United States, Canada and the British Isles.

I. R. Sutton, Tampico, Mexico, a native of Saginaw, Mich., was elected president without opposition, doing away with balloting scheduled for Thursday. Rufus F. Chapin, Chicago, treasurer 23 years, was re-elected. Voting for directors takes place Thursday. Nominated for the five posts allotted to the United States were David Clark, Charlotte, N. C.; A. R. Parsley, Lancaster, N. H.; S. W. Marr, Raleigh, N. C.; S. M. Brooks, Little Rock, Ark.; R. L. Hill, Columbia, Mo.; J. S. Carlson, Kansas City, Kan.; Frank Britton, Kansas City, Mo.; W. H. Campbell, Rochester, N. Y.; and A. E. Roth, Palo Alto, Calif.

Thomas Stephenson, Edinburgh, Scotland, was nominated as director for Great Britain and Ireland, and Joseph Calder, Regina, Sask., for Canada.

Phases of Rotary activity were discussed at group meetings today. Arthur H. Sapp, Huntington, Ind., retiring president, and Mrs. Sapp were guests of honor at the convention ball tonight.

DE FOOR ARBITRATION COMMITTEE MEETS

The first meeting of the board of arbitration, appointed to settle the purchase of the DeFoor tract for the fifth ward junior high school, was held Wednesday on the property. The committee will meet again today.

Members of the board of arbitration are John S. Owens, representing the city; Oliver Dolvin, representing C. L. DeFoor, the property owner, and E. Rivers, third member appointed by Judge John D. Humphries of Fulton superior court. McElreath and Scott represent DeFoor as attorneys. DeFoor has asked $40,000 for the 14 1/2-acre tract, and the city claims that this price is too high.

ALLEGED KIDNAPER OF EAST POINT GIRL IS JAILED IN MACON

Macon, Ga., June 20.—(AP)—L. A. Hall, alias Luther Cobb, was arrested here today on a charge of kidnapping Miss Ellen Henry, 14, in Atlanta last week.

The couple walked most of the way from Atlanta to Macon, it is said, going to a farm on the Jeffersonville road, where Hall obtained employment.

The girl did not like farm life, according to her story to officers, and told Hall to "get a job in town." He was arrested here when he was trying to find work. Detectives then went to the farm and got the girl. She is being held here until her father returns from Tifton, Ga., where he had gone in search of her.

Hall will be taken back to Atlanta.

The alleged kidnapping took place on June 11 when the girl and the man, both residents of East Point, disappeared. The girl's father suspected that there was some connection between the disappearances and swore out a warrant for Cobb on charges of kidnapping.

Officers Freed Of Killing of 2 Liquor Runners

McRae, Ga., June 20.—(AP)—Three county policemen who last night killed two men in a gun battle on the highway near here, today were exonerated by a coroner's jury which held that the slayings occurred while the victims "were resisting arrest."

Testimony before the coroner's jury showed that Charley Rawlins, 30, member of a prominent Telfair county family, and Will Coleman, an employee of Rawlins, opened fire on the officers when they approached his machine to arrest him on a charge of violating the prohibition laws.

Tom Jackson and Will Mills, Telfair county officers, and Matt Long, Wheeler county patrolman, testified they had received a tip that Rawlins and Coleman were on the highway last night and concealed themselves near the place the transaction was to occur.

When Rawlins and Coleman drove up in their car the officers rose from their place of concealment. Rawlins fired a shot at the officers, and Coleman, believing his fellow officer had been shot, emptied a shotgun into the car, killing Coleman, then stepped on the running board and shot Rawlins.

Rawlins is survived by a widow and four children.

MARYLA GRANOVSKA SINGS NEXT TUESDAY

Maryla Granovska, who, with Mrs. Charles E. Dowman, will give a concert at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night, June 26, at the Cabie Piano company, made her debut at the age of 10 in the imperial grand opera house in Warsaw, in La Traviata.

Madame Granovska received her musical training in the imperial conservatory of Warsaw, and after a season in the imperial grand opera there she went to Milan and Rome to complete her musical education. Making her Italian debut at San Pellegrino, in the part of Gilda, in Rigoletto, she was given a contract by the Teatro di Buenos Aires, which the declaration of war forced her to cancel.

In 1926 she was invited by the Polish Singing society, of Chicago, to visit the United States for a series of their concerts. After that she went on a 20-week tour with the New York Opera company.

Madame Granovska has sung over 100 roles in the imperial grand opera house of Warsaw. She has a rich soprano of unusual range, taking high F with remarkable facility.

She will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Dowman, popular and talented Atlanta pianist, who will play two piano solo groups besides her accompaniments for Madame Granovska.

The program opens with a seventeenth century aria by Donaudy, Bishop of "Love and Spring," and Proch's "Theme and Variations," after which Mrs. Dowman will play a seventeenth century gavotte by Couperin and a modern one by Grieg.

Madame Granovska also will sing selections from La Traviata, La Boheme, and La Fanciulla del Telegi.

Her final group will include selections from Gretchenow, Kinsky-Korsakoff and Glier. Mrs. Dowman will conclude the party with the program with a group from Debussy. Tickets are on sale at the Cabie Piano company.

COUNCIL COMMENDED FOR CONTRACT LAW

On the heels of approval Wednesday by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale of a measure requiring city council to let contracts for city work to the lowest and best bidder, Hugh Roberts, executive secretary of the Georgia chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America, addressed a letter of thanks to the mayor and commended council for its speedy action in "correcting defective regulation governing the award of contracts for construction work" done by the city.

A feature of the letter was notice of resumption of construction between members of the association and the city government, which the organization declared could not be resumed until adequate regulations governing award of contracts were enacted. Severance of relations followed the award of the contract for erection of the Prior street and Central avenue viaducts.

SALESMEN'S BODY TO HOLD BARBECUE AT PARK SATURDAY

A barbecue and a program of entertainment which will last practically all of Saturday afternoon are in the menu of the regular meeting of the City Salesmen's association for this week, it was announced Wednesday by Whit Moore, chairman of publicity.

The regular business meeting will be held at the Grant park pavilion at noon Saturday, and will be concluded an hour later, when the barbecue will be served under the supervision of Mrs. T. L. Simpson, chairman of a woman's committee in charge of the affair. Entertainment will be furnished by a committee headed by E. F. Johnson. Other members of the entertainment committee are Frank Connell, O. T. Camp, C. C. Harrison and John H. Owen.

Those attending will have an opportunity of winning valuable prizes to be awarded as attendance trophies.

COOLIDGE CATCHES SIX BIG TROUT

Superior, Wis., June 20.—(AP)—Six trout, the biggest weighing one and three-quarter pounds, was President Coolidge's catch after several hours' fishing.

An announcement at the executive offices stated that the biggest fish was a Loch Laxen trout, while the next biggest, a rainbow trout, weighed one and one-quarter pounds. This was the first announcement made this summer regarding Mr. Coolidge's luck on the Brule river, previously all details of his catches having been kept very confidential by white house attaches.

Able for the first time since his arrival here to spend several consecutive hours angling, the president started out early today on his first fishing outing this summer.

Under skies which were still overcast, but with a slightly higher temperature than yesterday, Mr. Coolidge was represented as having had a great time matching his skill against the ingenuity and agility of the Brule river trout.

He chose for his fishing a place up the river not far from the lodge. In a very short time he had caught more than he needed for tomorrow's breakfast.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS TO CHOOSE DELEGATES

Roanoke, Va., June 20.—(AP)—The vanguard of 2,000 or more delegates to the democratic state convention were pouring into Roanoke today by motor car and train, beginning the inevitable hotel lobby conversations and milling about the streets. Advance predictions, however, on probable actions of the convention were noticeably few.

Interest had been created in state politics since the announcement of Mrs. Beverly E. Mumford of Richmond, that she would not permit her name to be used again as national committeewoman. Mrs. Mumford has served the state democratic party in this capacity for eight years and there was no indication today as to who would be chosen as her successor. The Little or no opposition was expected for Senator Carter Glass as national committeeman or J. Murray Hooker as state chairman.

One of the principal questions at issue today was possible instructions for the Virginia delegation to Houston, and state leaders though reticent about pre-convention statements, generally were reported to favor an instructed delegation.

CHARLES LORIDANS TO GIVE LECTURE IN FRENCH TODAY

Continuing the French lecture series at Emory university, Charles Loridans will give an illustrated lecture in the theological building at 4 o'clock this afternoon. His subject will be "The French Revolution." The lecture will be given in French.

This lecture series has been arranged by the department of romance languages at Emory, and is free to all students and friends of the university. Dr. N. A. Goodyear, head of the department, has charge of the series. Lectures will be given every Thursday afternoon throughout the summer.

The first of the series was given Thursday afternoon, June 14, when Monsieur Loridans spoke on "Through Paris in an Automobile." Monsieur Loridans is president of the French Alliance in Atlanta.

In addition to the lecture several selections of French music will be given by Madame Graham King, accompanied by Mrs. N. A. Goodyear. Among the selections will be "Chansons de France."

The next lecture will be given on July 5 by George Raffalovich, and on July 12 Madame Laure Le Noir will appear in a specially arranged program. All lectures will be in French.

Great Smoky Park Commissioners Meet To Further Plans

Raleigh, N. C., June 20.—(AP)—North Carolina and Tennessee authorities will meet tomorrow at Washington in the office of Secretary of Interior Work to further plans for the Great Smoky Mountain National park. The North Carolina council of state has just authorized $2,000,000 on short time notes in anticipation of the sale of long term bonds to be issued later. North Carolina may have available the cash necessary for her part of the purchase price of lands in the park area.

BURNS ARE FATAL TO JACK GARDNER

Savannah, Ga., June 20.—(AP)—Burns received Monday caused the death today of Jack Gardner, 37-year-old man, who was killed in a manner in which he received his injuries. One was that he attempted to start a fire with gasoline. Another said he was working beneath an automobile when an explosion occurred.

Efforts were being made to locate relatives of Gardner who is supposed to have come here from Macon.

31 BODIES TAKEN FROM BLAST DEBRIS IN MEXICO CITY

Mexico City, June 20.—(AP)—A total of 31 bodies have been removed tonight from the debris of five buildings destroyed by a boiler in a bathhouse on the outskirts of Mexico City exploded last night. Police believe the debris hides still other bodies. More than 35 were wounded in an explosion which was caused when an intoxicated fireman, returning from lunch, left his boiler too hot and turned cold water into it rather than open the safety valves.

Salvation Army 'Hallelujah' Wedding To Take Place Today

A Salvation Army "hallelujah wedding," the second of its kind ever celebrated in the south, will rally Salvationists and interested onlookers to the territorial temple, 54 Ellis street, N. E., at 8 o'clock tonight.

Captain Monica Farrar, daughter of Ensign and Mrs. Frederick Farrar, of the New England division, and Captain James Longino, formerly of LaGrange, Ga., will be principals in the novel ceremony, which will be made a public demonstration of the spirit of the Salvation Army in its war against human suffering. A special section of the temple will be set aside for the public.

The bride and groom will subscribe to the Salvation Army articles of marriage, consecrating their married life to service of humanity as well as to each other and to support each other in any sacrifice or danger they may be called upon to undergo as Salvation Army officers.

The territorial staff band, the Salvation Army songster brigade, the full corps of training cadets who are now preparing for commissioning as officers next Tuesday, and all officers of southern territorial and Georgia divisional headquarters will take part in the wedding celebration.

Lieutenant Commissioner William A. McIntyre, commander of the 15 states of the southern territory, will perform the ceremony. Music by the territorial staff band, the quartet and songster brigade, and a solo by Captain Rhoda Farrar, sister of the bride and maid of honor, will be musical features. Scripture reading by the bride's mother and inspirational talks following the ceremony by both bride and groom, the bride's father, Brigadier Young, territorial finance officer; Captain E. R. Leiby, Georgia divisional commander, and others will conclude the service.

Captain Farrar and Captain Longino first met when both were in training to become Salvation Army officers at the New York training garrison and renewed their romance when they were assigned duties in Atlanta upon establishment of southern territorial headquarters here last year.

TORONTO BANDITS GET $100,000 LOOT

Toronto, Ont., June 20.—(AP)—Six armed men who, in a daring midnight holdup escaped with registered mail valued as high as $100,000 from an express car of the Canadian National Railways at the Union station here were being sought throughout western Ontario today.

Entrance to the car was gained on the pretense that the men wanted to sell a large sedan automobile which they had backed up to the car.

They quickly covered the express messenger and selecting three registered mail pouches, tossed the bags into their car and sped away.

Police arrived on the scene just as the robbers' car disappeared around a corner about 100 yards away. The police were unable to overtake the robbers' car.

Postal authorities immediately started a check of the contents of the missing pouches. Although no official estimate of the loot was given today, it was reported it might reach $100,000. One bag contained cash and the other two registered mail. The car was destined for Windsor and was attached to a Chicago-bound train.

The early arrival of the police was due to William Venton, assistant night agent of the Canadian National Railways' express, who defied the bandits. Ordered by the robbers to lie down on the platform and jabbed in the stomach with a sawed off shotgun, Venton was revolved he got free, dodged around mail trucks, rushed into the express office and telephoned the police.

As the call reached police headquarters, the officers were listening to an account of the suspicious actions of the men just prior to the robbery.

J. Hutchison said that on Station street he observed the six men in the car, but apparently engaged in a controversy. He noted that the license plates of their car had been tampered with. One of the men approached him and he decided to inform the police.

CLOUDBURST HITS MISSOURI TOWN; HOUSES DESTROYED

Branson, Mo., June 20.—(AP)—A cloudburst late tonight flooded White river and Lake Taneycomo near Hollister and several houses were reported swept from their foundations. The river rose two feet within an hour.

The last message received here from Cooperator at Hollister said that the water had reached the second floor of the exchange and the occupants were fleeing. Meager reports of the destruction came over the telephone wires before service was indefinitely suspended.

PLAYWRIGHT'S WIFE TO SEEK DIVORCE, NEWSPAPER STATES

New York, June 20.—(United News).—The New York Daily News tonight published a copyright story asserting that Mrs. Eugene O'Neill, wife of the playwright, will go to Mexico or Reno, Nev., to file suit for divorce in the immediate future.

Mrs. O'Neill, the story said, announced that all questions of financial support and custody of their children had been settled. Divorce will be asked on grounds of desertion and incompatibility, she said.

According to the News' story, O'Neill is in France where the name of Charlotte Monterey, a former film beauty, has been linked with that of the famous author.

Gunn Wins First Round Match in Southern Amateur at Dallas

Watts Trims Glenn Crisman By 6-5 Score

Atlanta Lad Shoots One Under Par for 13 Holes That Match Lasts.

Brook Hollow Golf Club, Dallas, Texas, June 20.—(AP)—Fifteen matches ended as expected today and Emmett Spicer, Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., present golf states champion and former southern champion, was eliminated in the only upset of the day when the 32 amateurs who qualified yesterday began fighting it out in match play for the southern amateur title.

Young Spicer was put out by Gibson Payne, of the Dallas Country club, who won his first big match. The play ended at the eighteenth hole, where the Memphis golfer got into a trap and made a poor recovery.

The stellar performance of the day, however, were those by Watts Gunn, the famous Atlanta player, and Bobby Jones, and L. H. Robertson, of Dallas, who played the field and spectators yesterday by clinching medal honors with a brilliant 72.

Gunn Sensational.
Shooting into a terrific wind which waited the 132 other guys perched about as if they had been feders, Robertson duplicated his medal score in downing Fred Golden, of Houston, 3 and 2.

The sensational Gunn, getting 40 to 50 yards more with his wooden club than any other player in the championship field, was eliminated, 6 and 5.

Young Spicer virtually lost his match and chance to duplicate his championship honor achieved in 1926 when he drove far over the ninth green into a tent house.

The results of today's matches: L. H. Robertson, Dallas, defeated Fred Golden, Houston, 3 and 2.

Frank Dyer, Memphis, defeated Roger Parker, Dallas, 3 and 2.

Tommy Dyer, Memphis, defeated Roger Parker, Dallas, 3 and 2.

U. S. Net Stars Seeded in Meet At Wimbledon

Tourney Opening Monday Marks First Important International Clash.

BY ROBERT C. DOWSON.
United News Staff Correspondent.
London, June 20.—(United News.) The first important clash this year between the rival Davis cup forces of the United States and France will take place in the all-English championships at the Wimbledon stadium, beginning Monday.

William T. Tilden, Jr., of Indianapolis, and Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, of the United States Davis cup team, and Rene Lacoste, of France, and Jean Borotra, of the French Davis cup team, were seeded in the draw held today.

Other stars seeded for the men's singles were Ronald Boyd and Guillermo Robson, of the Argentina Davis cup team, and Baron di Moggi, of the Italian Davis cup team, and Gerald Patterson, the veteran Australian player. One hundred and twenty-eight players are entered in the men's singles.

Cochet 1927 Champ.
Cochet won the men's singles championship last year by defeating his fellow countryman, Borotra, in the final, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5. Cochet eliminated Tilden in the semi-finals after losing the first two sets.

Miss Helen Jacobs, defending champion, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, Miss Helen Jacobs and Mrs. Molla Mallory, of the United States, were seeded in the women's singles in which 80 players are entered.

Be SPORTLIGHT

The TOUGHEST JOB. Mickey Walker is facing a somewhat rasping assignment tonight in defending his title against Ace Hudkins, but what a pipe he has compared to Tommy Armour, open golf champion of the United States.

Walker has to beat only one man. Armour has to beat 150 survivors from a field of more than 1,000. Boxing champions frequently defend their titles. No open golf champion over here has defended his title for sixteen years. Even Bobby Jones couldn't defend his American crown in 1924 and 1927, the only two defensive chances he has drawn.

The Mauling Mickey has a charging challenger in Hudkins, but Armour must ward off the thrush of Jones, Hagen, Farrell, Sarazen, Compton, Diegel, Cooper and 140 others.

It is true enough that Armour, open golf champion, won't have to take one on the chin. But he will have a hundred of them in his nervous system when a drive wanders astray or a short putt fails to drop. If any one thinks there is no suffering in golf he has never seen a bunkered bunker or a star amateur or star professional watching a putt curve around the lip of a hole.

The punch on the chin may seem to be more painful, but there is doubt about this. In the heat of action it isn't always felt. Dempsey had no remembrance at the time of Carpen's nailing his jaw hard enough to break a right hand. Football players don't mind the same experience as they looked at a blue welt the next day and wondered where it came from.

Ace Hudkins, Walker Meet In Chi Bout

Exciting Battle Promised To-night When Two Meet for Middleweight Title.

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—The bulldog and the wildest of the ring—Mickey Walker, defending world's middleweight champion, and Ace Hudkins, the challenger—will battle for the title here tomorrow night with prospects that the fight will be the most sensational middleweight engagement since the stirring encounters between Billy Papke and Stanley Ketchel, 20 years ago.

Walker and Hudkins are slated to fight 10 rounds in Comiskey park, a judges' decision with Walker's crown as the prize. The bout is under the direction of promoter Jim Mullins.

The fight will be Walker's first real defense of the title since he acquired the championship from the late Tiger Flowers here a year ago. Although Walker is a 7 to 5 favorite in the wagering, the general opinion is that he will win.

Walker was not disturbed by the challenger's supreme confidence. The champion said little, but is confident of victory. Jack Kearns, his manager, predicted a knockout for Walker within six rounds. The champion, he said, was in the best of condition since his winning days as a welterweight champion.

Hudkins was reported today as weighing around 155 pounds but prospects he would scale 154 at weighing time 3 p. m. tomorrow. He will wear a waistcoat of probable five or six pounds as the champion figures to scale about 150 pounds.

The battle promises to be one of the most exciting ever fought in the middleweight title because both are courageous and free hitters, easy to hit and hard to hurt. Neither clincher covers up. Neither wears any time paying any attention to boxing. Instead they begin pinching from the very start, ceasing only when the fight ends.

Walker is credited with hitting harder than Hudkins and standing up under punishment a little better than the Nebraska blond. The Hudkins-Walker fight is scheduled to start between 8:30 and 9 p. m. central standard time, with the prospects that they might go on earlier if the weather conditions are promising. It will be preceded by five preliminary bouts in which only one substitution has been made. Al Friedman, a Boston heavyweight, sustained an injury last night. Instead Ted McEwen, another Boston heavyweight, will oppose the Illinois boxer.

Granis Pass, Ore., June 20.—(AP)—Flying Cloud, Karok Indian, leading in the Redwood highway Indian marathon from San Francisco to Grants Pass, Ore., arrived at Grants Pass, 62 miles from Grants Pass, at 12:15 p. m. today and had a good meal and bath and retired for a sleep.

Meanwhile Melika, 58-year-old Zuni, the only one of his tribe left in the race, plodded on slowly but with grim determination. At noon he was 25 miles behind the leader. A prize of $100 goes to the winner of the 482-mile race.

Melika and Chief Ukiah, Pomo Indian, were only a few minutes apart and the race between those two for second place was assuming the aspect of a real contest. Melika arrived at Grants Pass at 11:55 and Ukiah at 11:52, each bent on overtaking the leader. Failing in this, each hopes to come in second money. They were to start the race at 1 o'clock.

Klamath was in fourth place, five miles behind Melika and Ukiah at 12:30. Dan Omalungkong, Hopi, was fifth and was 25 miles back of Klamath. Five miles to his rear was Seymour Smith.

Bull left Orick 60 miles back of the leader at 10 a. m. Mad Bull will continue in the grind in an effort to place among the leaders. The race may end before daylight tomorrow if Melika or Ukiah threatens Flying Cloud's lead.

Baseballers Win 1st Move In Park Row

Work Is Halted on Pony Track at Piedmont Park Being Built on Diamonds.

Declaring it vital that their playing grounds be not destroyed, amateur baseball adherents won in the first legal skirmish to prevent conversion of two Piedmont park municipal playing fields into a pony track Wednesday.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and L. L. Wallis, superintendent of parks affecting a temporary stoppage of construction activities at the park when a temporary restraining order was issued, and park workers immediately ordered from the scene pending further problem in the controversy.

Trammel Scott, spokesman for the amateurs at the airing of their grievances before the city officials, declared the diamonds about to be converted to be the best of the city system, and he urged the city to consider the playing areas as to make them unfit for baseball play, he indicated.

Superintendent Wallis was then moved to accompany Mr. Scott and a committee of the baseball representatives to the Piedmont diamonds for a tour of inspection. He declared that the parks department wishes to encompass every phase of recreation that the city has the means to provide, and the area under consideration for the pony track provides the only available location for such a purpose, which would afford a safe place for children to gallop upon their mounts.

Mayor Ragsdale, hearing Mr. Scott's appeal, called for a petition, signed by more than 100 amateur baseball supporters, early in the conference in which he expressed his interest in the matter to be squarely up to the parks committee and parks department.

Asot Heath, Chicago 20.—(United News.)—Lord Derby's big filly Toboggan, and J. B. Joel's brown horse Priory Park carried off the racing honors today before a large crowd of royal and noble society people.

Toboggan won the $25,000 one-mile Coronation stakes for three-year-old fillies in which ten of the 1,100 entries were entered.

Priory Park captured the $12,500 royal hunt cup race by three lengths from Lord Lascelles' St. Jerome, with Sir Belver Broughton's Knight of the Grail third.

This is a fact—we have a customer in Atlanta who has been buying Red Rock for more than 25 years. He has bought a great many carloads. One day we asked him why it was that he advertised the names of several ginger ales but never mentioned Red Rock. He said the reason was very plain, that he had advertised the other ginger ales to get rid of them but that Red Rock was so well known that it sold itself. That was a great compliment for Red Rock. That dealer is selling more Red Rock than any other ginger ale, although he does not advertise it. All you have to do is call for Red Rock and you will get it. The Red Rock Company.—(adv.)

EXTORTION LETTER BELIEVED A JOKE

Tampa, Fla., June 20.—(AP)—Opinion was divided here today as to the identity of the persons who sought to obtain $10,000 by extortion from James T. Swann, president of the board of trade.

Chief of Police Logan said he thought the effort was a "boyish prank" and announced he would drop the investigation. Mr. Swann believed the plan was that of mature criminals and that the efforts of four high school boys to apprehend the perpetrators was prompted by "highly commendable ideal."

Mr. Swann yesterday received a letter demanding the money and directing him how to deliver it. He notified the police who instructed him to carry out orders contained in the communication. The four boys, in an automobile, trailed Mr. Swann to the rendezvous and then to his home, where they were taken into custody by the officers who also followed Mr. Swann's car. No one appeared at the spot selected for the payment, except the boys and the police. They were released shortly afterwards when they told authorities they had acted as volunteer guards after learning of the letter from their elders.

Another Hot Day Expected For Today

A hot sun, doing its best to make an animated world of the Atlanta and environs, will continue on its path to bursting the mercury today, according to the forecast of the local weather bureau.

Temperatures will probably range to a new high mark around noon today, it is thought. Despite the hot sun, cool breezes continue to pour in on the city from the east and northeast, and provided blind veterans will be from the rays, it's rather comfortable. The mercury Wednesday varied from a low of 64 degrees to a high of 88 degrees.

D. A. V. DELEGATES LEAVE HERE TODAY

Eight official delegates from the Atlanta chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, accompanied by numerous veterans and friends and the Atlanta chapter drum corps, will leave today to attend the eighth annual convention of the National D. A. V. in Denver June 23 to 30.

William E. Tate, national commander of the organization, has gone ahead of the delegation to join his official staff at Cincinnati and to take part in pre-convention activities. The delegation will leave on the All-Southern express train of delegates for the Colorado city where all indications are for the greatest convention in the history of the organization.

Features of the convention program will be the election of a new national commander and the midnight rendezvous of the French Rats, fun unit of the D. A. V. A large delegation of blind veterans will be present and also a number of members of the women's auxiliary.

Convention chairman William T. Henning, commander of the Colorado department, is making preparations for receiving the veterans. Included in the many distinguished guests who will be present are Governor Adams of Colorado; Mayor Stapleton of Denver; Congressman C. K. Timberlake, Brigadier General T. Hines and W. M. Baxter, of the American Red Cross. Richard O'Neil and Willie Sandlin, congressional medal of honor men, will lead a delegation of more than 50 men who were wounded in the war and who were decorated for their valor.

M'CULLOUGH TO STUDY EUROPEAN AIR SYSTEM

Major C. E. McCullough, son of Jay S. McCullough, 1109 Boulevard, N. E., has been sent to Europe by the Pennsylvania railroad to make an intensive study of the airplane systems of England and the continent.

Mr. McCullough is church clerk and deacon of the Second Baptist church, and is in the employ of the Southeastern Passenger association.

He will be accompanied on the trip by Charles H. Mathews, Jr., assistant general traffic manager of the Pennsylvania, and C. S. "Casey" Jones, famous American air pilot.

Major McCullough has been with the railroad 22 years and has covered nearly every phase of passenger traffic work. He is now general passenger agent with headquarters in Washington.

The party will study English airways and fly to Amsterdam and Berlin where special study will be made of commercial airways. They will visit Paris to study French methods, and will be present at the International Exposition of Aeronautical Industries which opens on June 29. The tour will be concluded by a visit to the Swedish, Danish, Swiss and Italian air centers. Major McCullough probably will return some time in August and the results of his study will be utilized in organization of the new transcontinental air and rail service between New York and Los Angeles.

BATTLE ON WEEVILS URGED IMMEDIATELY

Brill weevils have appeared over practically all of south and middle Georgia during the past two weeks, with the result that the cotton crop situation in some sections is "really alarming," declared a statement issued Wednesday by E. Lee Worsham, state entomologist.

"Weevil infestation already is as heavy as this state has ever known at this season of the year, if not heavier," Mr. Worsham said.

"In some sections, even as far north as Marietta and Troup counties, the situation is really alarming, and the condition has been rendered even more serious by the belated condition of the crop."

"The cotton crop in south Georgia is not only late, but the early planting was seriously damaged by the cold and by the prolonged wet weather, and its growth accordingly has been very slow. This state of affairs gives the boll weevil a material advantage."

"If the farmers are not diligent in their work, and do not begin the use of calcium arsenate immediately, there is no estimating what the total loss will be."

"Just now it seems that the state's cotton crop is hanging in the balance. It will not be saved without vigilant effort on the part of all cotton farmers. If the rains continue a tremendous fight may be necessary to save it."

Army Orders

Captain Richard T. Edwards, quartermaster corps, on duty at the army medical center, Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D. C., has been ordered to duty at Fort McPherson, Ga., effective July 13.

War department orders of June 19 call for duty the following organized reserve of this corps area:

Major W. N. Adkins, medical reserve, Atlanta, Ga., to Carlin barracks, Penn., effective July 8.

SUPPOSED POISON VICTIM RECOVERS; LEAVES HOSPITAL

Mrs. Cleo Grubb, a registered nurse of Birmingham, Ala., who was found in an unconscious condition late Tuesday night at Peachtree and Fourth streets, apparently suffering from the effects of poison, was released from Grady hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Grubb told attendants that she had taken an overdose of headache tablets by mistake. When she was taken to the hospital Tuesday night a note to her sister, which seemed to indicate a suicide attempt, was found in her handbag.

W. C. T. U. TO HELP REPUBLICANS, SAYS HEAD OF SOCIETY

Evanston, Ill., June 20.—(AP)—The Women's Christian Temperance union

intends to show its appreciation to the republicans for the dry plank in their platform and nomination of "two un-doubted friends of prohibition" by "helping the party in support of prohibition as a national issue," Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president, has written those who attended the Kansas City convention as delegates or alternates.

"Our appreciation is more than ordinarily keen because we realize there were at Kansas City, delegates who doubted the advisability of a strong dry plank," said Mrs. Boole.

I'M GOIN TO SELL $15 SUITS TODAY AND TOMORROW FOR ... $7.77 -- and extra pants to match for only $2.85

Yes many of them are worth $20 because they're Tropical Worst and silk lined (cancelled orders). The poor devil that made these suits expected to get more than ten bucks per suit wholesale but the continued rainy weather all over the country has just ruined the clothing business this spring. I went to New York last week with the Jack in my hand and I didn't even ask them Yankees up there what they wanted for silk lined tropical suits 'cause I knew I could get 'em at my price when I showed 'em my "dead men's pictures." Oh! Boy, when you see these fine suits for $7.77 you'll slip me the Jack and thank me for the chance to get a fine new suit for $7.77. Yes, they are party suits for the bareheaded boy who wants to waltz his sweetheart over the dance floor, and the conservative dark colors for papa to wear to church and the nicest office suits you ever laid your eyes on for the business or professional man. (500 suits) stouts, slims and regulars to select from, and when you see the $3.50 straw hats we're sellin for $1.99 you'll get all dressed up for less than $10.

Nature's Pet PENSACOLA

The last spike is driven! The most vital railroad pioneering of recent years brings the far-reaching Frisco-Rock Island System to tide water at Pensacola, its only port. The new line will be inaugurated June 28 at Pensacola with a rousing celebration. Your attention is particularly invited to the new industrial set-up here and the opportunity offered by this occasion for an enjoyable outing in this favored section of the Gulf Coast.

Where Fortune Smiles And Life Is Better

Play and Prosper With Us

A NEW Industrial Frontier at the heart of the nation's all-year playground! Unequaled natural advantages linked with fundamental economic developments to create the industrial opportunity of the decade; a recreational Mecca where Florida's balmy sunshine and the Gulf's refreshing breezes unite to make a better place to live and work—that is PENSACOLA.

PENSACOLA is the Capital of the American Riviera—the Gulf Coast. Here is the year-round outdoor life, unsurpassed surf beaches, fishing and cruising on numerous fresh and salt waters, year-round golf, a virgin back country full of game—every outdoor sport, where Spring lasts all Summer and Winter is only Fall.

The manufacturing movement towards the South, quickening Latin-American trade, securing Frisco-Rock Island System tide water terminal, these are the external developments that demand and insure the utilization of PENSACOLA'S strategic industrial location and advantages.

In creating this unmatched combination of opportunity and livability, of profit and pleasure, Nature truly has been lavish at PENSACOLA.

FIREPLACE DEDICATION OPENS CAMP OF GIRLS

The opening this week of the Camp Fire Girls camp was featured by the dedication of the great rock fireplace in the new lodge at the camp, it was learned from camp headquarters Wednesday.

The impressive ceremony was started by a short talk given by Mrs. Tom Brooke, president of the board of directors of the Atlanta district of the organization. The camp director, Miss Mary Louise Hollands, director of the camp, then lighted the fire, giving a portion of the lighting ceremony of the Camp Fire Girls. In the glow of the blaze the ceremonies continued with an ode to the fire given by Miss Ruth Brooke, after which a ceremonial tribute to fire was paid with several of the girls taking part.

At the close of the dedication exercises several short talks were given by the counselors, Camp Fire Girls songs were sung and the group broke up when "Lights Out" sounded, indicating the close of the first day at camp.

Mrs. Irving Thomas To Face Judge Today On Contempt Charge

The contempt of court case against Mrs. Irving Thomas, regent of Joseph Hershman chapter, D. A. R., will be called this morning before Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court. The citation for alleged contempt of court grew out of the complaint of neighbors of Mrs. Thomas that the order of Judge Virgil B. Moore to have police officers in attendance at her home was disobeyed, as charged by D. A. R. officers had been violated.

VAUDEVILLE TROUP PROPERTY DESTROYED

Alamo, Ga., June 20.—(Special).—Fire today destroyed the vaudeville troupe property at a local moving picture house, the loss to the company, known as "The Malone Sisters," being estimated at $5,000. The blaze was started by a short-circuited electric line.

Chicago Artist Will Teach At High Museum

A reorganized school of art presenting regular art classes will be available in September at the High Museum. A catalogue fully illustrating the courses in detail is now ready and will be mailed to all applicants. Harold Mitts, formerly of the Art Institute, Chicago, and Miss Cornelia Cunningham will be the instructors.

All-day classes from Monday until Friday, inclusive, will be in order and the work will be divided into three terms of three months each. The first term will start Monday, September 17. Registration will take place from September 10. All students desirous of entering the school are urged to make application as soon as possible as the registration will be heavy and accommodations limited.

"In developing this art school," says R. L. Foreman, president of the Atlanta Art association, "we are endeavoring to serve the people of our community by providing art instruction to the very best of our ability."

In view of Harold Mitts, formerly instructor at the Art Institute, Chicago, has been engaged and he together with Miss Cunningham will present a program of art classes that will fit the student for commercial or fine art.

Mr. Mitts will spend the summer at the Tiffany Foundation, while Miss Cunningham will take added courses at the Berkshire School of Art, under the direction of Raymond Ensign.

Have Beautiful Skin and Youthful Expression

To have and keep an exquisite complexion, a delicate coloring or that the cheeks, begin at once to use pure mercurized wax. Obtainable at any drug store, it is applied to the face, neck and arms, slightly like a solid cream. Day by day, it peels off the outer layer of aged, soiled or blemished skin in tiny particles, until the entire mass of imperfect skin is removed. The under skin then appears clear, smooth and lovely, with the unmistakable coloring of youth. Mercurized wax brings out the hidden beauty. To remove wrinkles and restore facial contour, use as an exfoliant 2 ounce powdered axolite and 1 half pint witch hazel.—(adv.)

Miss Davison and Mr. Warner Wed in Biltmore Ballroom

The marriage of Miss Jane Emerson Davison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont Davison, Sr., and Daniel Sumner Warner, of Pontiac, Mich., and Duneside Isle, Fla., was solemnized at a brilliant ceremony Wednesday afternoon in the ballroom of the Biltmore hotel, before a fashionable gathering of relatives and intimate friends. The Rev. L. R. Christie, pastor of Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church, performed the ceremony and the happy couple were transformed into a veritable flower garden, combining palms, ferns and garden-blossoms. The bride wore a gown of white tulle, with a long train, and the groom wore a tuxedo. The ceremony was held at 2 o'clock. The bride's bouquet was composed of white roses, lilies and gladioli. The wedding party included Miss Ruth Odom, Miss Laura Emerson, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Miss Louise Lewis, of Montezuma, and their gowns were fashioned similar to the maid of honor's except that the colors were in the varying shades of sunset, peach and apricot. They wore picture hats of horsehair and carried gorgeous showery bouquets of varicolored flowers.

Bridal Party.
Miss Betty Davison was her sister's maid of honor, and was given in apple-green organdie made with tight-fitting waist and bouffant skirt introducing the modish uneven hemline. She wore a picture hat of horsehair in a matching shade of green banded in orange blossoms, and her slippers were of corresponding color. The bridesmaids were Miss Nan Allen, of Buford; Miss Ruth Odom, Miss Laura Emerson, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Miss Louise Lewis, of Montezuma, and their gowns were fashioned similar to the maid of honor's except that the colors were in the varying shades of sunset, peach and apricot. They wore picture hats of horsehair and carried gorgeous showery bouquets of varicolored flowers.

Now You Can Reduce 2 to 4 Lbs. in a Night

Eat what you please Wear what you please
Do what you please
Take no risky medicine

Thousands of smart women have found this easy way to take off 2 to 4 pounds once or twice a week. The women who have used Fayro baths in the privacy of their own homes. Fayro is the concentrate of the same natural mineral salts that make effective the waters of twenty-two hot springs of America, England and Continental Europe. For years the spas and hot springs bathing resorts have been the retreat of fair women and well-groomed men. Excess weight has been removed, skins have been made more lovely, bodies more shapely and minds brighter.

The Hot Springs Are Now Brought to You

Painstaking analyses of the active ingredients of the water from twenty-two of the most famous springs have taught us the secret of their effectiveness. You can now have all these benefits in your own bath. Merely put Fayro into your hot bath. It dissolves rapidly. You will notice and enjoy the pungent fragrance of its balsam oils and clean salts.

Then, Fayro, by opening your pores and stimulating perspiration forces large body cells to sweat out surplus fat and bodily poisons. Add Fayro to your bath at night and immediately you will lose from 2 to 4 pounds in an easy, refreshing and absolutely harmless manner.

Your physician will tell you that Fayro is certain to do the work and that it is absolutely harmless. Fayro will refresh you and help your body throw off worn-out fat and bodily poisons. Your skin will be clearer and smoother. You will sleep better after your Fayro bath and awaken feeling as though you had enjoyed a week's vacation.

Loss Weight Where You Most Want To

Fayro reduces weight generally, but you can also concentrate its effect on abdomen, hips, legs, ankles, chin or any part of the body you may wish.

Results Are Immediate

Weigh yourself before and after your Fayro bath. You will find you have lost from 2 to 4 pounds. And a few nights later when you again add Fayro to your bath, you will once more reduce your weight. Soon you will be the next best weight for your height. No need to deny yourself food you really want. No need for violent exercise. No need for drugs or medicines. Merely a refreshing Fayro bath in the privacy of your own home.

Try Fayro at Our Risk

The price of Fayro is $1.00 a package. Inside each package you get an interesting booklet, "Health and Open Pores."

If each healthful bath of Fayro does not reduce your weight from 2 to 4 pounds, we will refund your money without a question. You risk nothing.

HERE'S PROOF

Read what Fayro Baths have done for others:

"Three Fayro baths reduced my weight 11 pounds in 8 days. I feel better than I have felt for years."

"I weigh 16 pounds less and feel younger and more beautiful. Fayro is wonderful."

"My double chin vanished in the magic of Fayro baths."

"My hips were always too prominent until I commenced Fayro baths. I have lost 12 pounds."

"Thank you for Fayro. I lost 14 pounds in 10 weeks; feel better and certainly look better."

"Since childhood my thick ankles have always been a source of embarrassment. Fayro baths have reduced them beautifully. Thank you very much."

Diet and Health

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT!

Do those of you who have been reading the column for some years remember the case of old man in the ear that I wrote about? I took it from a report given in one of the American Medical Association journals. I'll give you a resume of it:

A man, aged 36, stumbled and fell, striking his chin. He was unconscious for a few seconds and on recovery experienced a sharp pain in his right ear. He was sent to an ear specialist who found that the ear canal was blocked with a large amount of tightly packed ear wax (cerumen). Following the removal of this came the remains of a perfectly preserved cockroach, about one-half inch long!

This was his history: Fourteen years previous, while bathing, he felt a sudden pain and buzzing in his right ear which drove him nearly frantic. He put his head under the water in the tub and the pain ceased. Later the ear was syringed, but nothing washed out, so he believed that the trouble was caused by a small insect which was lost in the ear.

He gradually became deaf in this ear, but never consulted a physician, believing that some damage had been done by the insect which could not be remedied.

After the removal of the hardened wax and cockroach his hearing became normal. The specialist believed that the cockroach was embalmed in this air-tight space caused by the accumulation of ear wax.

Now this incident I've related is authentic, but it caused me to lose my reputation for veracity. Several of the followers wrote in that they always believed everything I said until that cockroach story appeared.

Now—I'm going to tell you of another ear episode which is also true, but I suppose it will get me into trouble again. This was taken from the British Medical Journal of January 7, 1923. I title this story: Another Hazard of Marriage.

Dr. William P. Kennedy, a ship surgeon, treated the captain of a vessel for a serious attack of bronchitis and a condition of the lungs. The captain had a raucous voice and sailor-like, did not mind matters when he wanted to cough. He recovered from his bronchitis, but his hacking cough remained. The doctor told him that it must be some reflex irritation, possibly something wrong in his ears. He was very skeptical, but permitted an examination. An encapsulated grain of old, dried rice was found in one ear.

The captain believed the grain must have been there since the day he got married, 36 years previous, when his friends threw rice at his bride and him. The doctor said the matter as well as he could, and decided that it had been there for that length of time. Anyway, upon its removal the cough vanished and never returned.

Believe it or not!

Campers who sleep close to the ground should put cotton in their ears to prevent any bugs from including them in their itinerary. In case a bug does get into the ear a few drops of chloroform or perfume will kill it and will not hurt the ear. Then it can be syringed out. But be sure it is out!

Foreign bodies which cannot be removed easily should be removed by a physician, for home efforts to remove them may only result in further embedding them in the canal.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

ANOTHER QUEER COUSIN OF STICKYTOES.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who ne'er is curious will find In knowledge he is soon behind.
—Old Mother Nature.

Stickytoes the Tree Toad was full of curiosity. Yes, sir, he was full of curiosity. Most people at one time or another are filled with curiosity. If it were not so, the world would not progress as fast as it does. It is curiosity that leads people to discover things.

Stickytoes was curious because of what Scrapper the Kingbird had told him about a big cousin living away down in the Tropics, where Scrapper goes in the late fall on his way to the places where he spends his winters. Scrapper told Stickytoes that down in the late fall on his way to the places where he spends his winters, Stickytoes wanted to know more about them. So the first time that Scrapper the Kingbird came near enough, Stickytoes called to him.

"Scrapper!" he cried. "I want to talk to you."

Scrapper was feeling good natured, so he flew over a little nearer. "All right," said he, "talk away."

"Tell me about some more of my cousins down in that country," begged Stickytoes.

"Ho!" cried Scrapper. "I thought you wanted to talk to me. Instead of that, you want me to talk to you."

"If you please," said Stickytoes. "You see, the only way I can learn about the members of my family down there is from some one who has seen them. You told me the other day that I had one big cousin who is almost as big as Grandfather Frog. But you didn't tell me much about him. Does he live just the same kind of a life I do? Does he go down to a Smiling Pool in the spring?"

Scrapper shook his head. "Down in that country," said he, "they do not have spring and summer and fall and winter, the way we do here. They have two seasons—a wet season and a dry season. In the wet season there are Smiling Pools everywhere, but in the dry season those pools all dry up."

"Then I suppose," said Stickytoes.

"Then I suppose," said Stickytoes.

Stickytoes stared at Scrapper. There was unbelief in his eyes. Scrapper saw it, but he wouldn't say anything. "Scrapper," said Stickytoes, after a bit, "are you trying to stuff me?"

"What do you mean?"

"Well," replied Stickytoes, "are you making up a big story and expecting me to swallow it? How could any Frog, no matter what his size, make a pool? I know that Paddy the Beaver can make a pond, but I have never heard of a Frog doing anything like that!"

Scrapper actually chuckled. He didn't lose his temper at all. "It isn't a very big pool your cousin makes," said he, "but it is a pool. It is an honest-to-goodness pool, and if he didn't make it, Mrs. Tree Toad would have no place to put her eggs. Now I must leave you, for Mrs. Scrapper is calling me. Perhaps some other day I'll tell you all about it."

THE GUMPS—THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

Three Generations

By WARWICK DEEPING

SYNOPSIS.

Old John Pybus, formerly a bookseller in London and later a wine merchant, is serving as a porter in an inn at Castle Craven when his son, Conrad, sees him there. He has been estranged from both his sons since the beginning of the war and they have just truck of him. Conrad hastens to tell his brother, Pybus, that he has seen his father. Pybus, who has been without telling his parents of the meeting. When Lance Pybus, at Cambridge, takes a room in London and after his father's reluctant consent and a small allowance he devotes himself to writing. In London Lance meets and is attracted to Olive Gadsden, a musician.

INSTALLMENT LVIII. A DIRECT APPROACH.

Lance's hand, holding the teapot, made a slight movement, and the pipe of boiling water from the kettle's spout striking momentarily upon the glazed surface of the pot, splashed a few hot drops upon Mary's hand.

Lance winced.

"I say—I've scalded you—I'm—"

"Only a drop or two. It was my fault."

"But I have—You ought to—Let me take the thing."

"No, fill it; it's nearly full."

He did as she wished, but when she had placed the teapot on the tray he wanted to see her hand, and when he would not be denied she showed it to him, though there was nothing to be seen.

Both their heads were bent and rather close together and the Venerable on his sofa watched them over a motionless shoulder.

"You ought to put something on it—some cream."

But she wouldn't, though a kind of softness had touched her face. She drew up a chair and sat down, and began to put sugar into the three cups, and then remembered that she did not know whether Lance took sugar. He was lowering his glance seemed to envelope without touching. Yes, he took sugar. But where was she going to sit? Not on that chair away from the fire while he and the Venerable occupied the sofa. No, it could not be allowed. And she looked up at him, bending to her, she with upturned face vaguely questioning and gently grave.

"No—but I—"

She was aware of the sudden smile in his eyes.

"Let's appeal to Caesar. Grandfather—who's to sit with you on the sofa."

"Mary," said a voice.

And she rose and, without looking at him, went to sit on the sofa, but not before she had filled the three cups.

"I'm outvoted," Lance smiled.

"I am offering Mary—her rights as a woman, to sit and be served."

"Ah, just so," said old Pybus—when she has done most of the serving. That's our nice male gesture—but it is better than nothing. And what does Mary say?"

Neither of them looked at her. There are moments when a woman is felt—and not looked at.

"Isn't it the drop of sugar in the cup?"

"Ah," said the Venerable again, "that little piece of sugar, the celestial—something! Without it—! My dear, pass me the bread and butter; I'm getting too much like a pontiff."

But out in the lane, with the dusk coming down and the sere foliage of the hedgerows dimly yellow above the gray blue gloom, both Lance and his grandfather fell into a conscious silence that would be broken deliberately by one of them. And probably it was old Pybus' wish that Lance should break it—which he did, and before they had reached the Castle Craven high road.

"Was that the brother—upstairs?"

The Venerable, walking with a kind of solid straightness down the middle of the lane and looking neither to the right hand nor the left, nodded his big head.

"Laid up?"

"In a manner of speaking."

"What's the matter with him?"

The Venerable answered with one word and Lance's head seemed to swing up and round.

"That?"

"They were on the high road now, old Pybus on the north and Lance on the crown of the road, head up, eyes at gaze."

"I'm glad you have told me, grandfather."

"Anything more?"

"Oh, much more."

"Is there? I should have thought that that was enough. How did it start with him?"

"Boredom, poor lad. But some one else set a light. It's an extraordinary piece of sex psychology."

"How?"

"Another man."

"I see. Some stupid sort."

"Not at all. Wilfully."

"Wilfully? But—why?"

"No damnable—that you would say incredible. Yes, almost incredible. There, filthy, sexual spite. And pressure, a kind of brutal, chucking persuasion."

"He was aware of Lance swinging nearer to him across the road."

"What the devil do you mean, grandfather? Not that?"

"Just a kind of lust, my dear, that, being repulsed, turned to this filthy retro."

"What, with Mary?"

"Yes, with Mary."

Lance stopped as his grandfather had stopped a moment ago.

"Do you mean to tell me, grandfather, that some—some—deliberately set out to turn that poor blind devil into a drunkard because Mary—"

"I do."

"But it's unthinkable—it's too damnable to credit."

"My dear," said the Venerable, "did nothing ever happen to you? A month ago didn't sex scorch you? Doesn't the beast sometimes breathe in the faces of all of us?"

"Who is the fellow?"

"He was told, and his disgust deepened. His face had lost its color; it had the stark whiteness that is seen on certain faces when fighting, a kind of passionate, fierce, bloodlessness. He had nothing to say."

When Mary drove her decrepit old two-wheeler into the Caravan yard the car's deceptively touched Lance. That he was not there by accident but by design was obvious to both of them, yet without any suggestion of flagrantcy. He just happened to be there. He made it appear natural that he should be there. He did not offer to help her in any way, but his challenge was direct.

"I wander over—some afternoon."

And she, with a box of eggs in her hands, was supremely wise as to his appeal, though she did not visualize all that lay behind it. She looked at him for a moment with one of those upward and discerning glances, and it she divined a kind of ruthlessness in him she may have felt that towards some people and things it would be tempered always with the artist's tenderness. He would not be ruthless to a dog or a tree or to one particular woman. His ruthlessness had discernment.

She accepted his naturalness and returned it.

"If you happen to find me rather busy—"

"That's understood. I want to meet your brother."

Again, she gave him that upward look. Was he quite sure? Or did he assume that she would understand?

"Yes, come and see him."

She went away upon her affairs, conscious of having divined behind his quiet and unsmiling seriousness a romantic fierceness, nor did she quarrel with the impression. It might be a kind of fierceness that appeals to a woman.

The next day Lance opened and closed the gate of "Marions," and, walking up to the porch, stood for half a minute before ringing the bell.

His feeling was that the house must be empty. Looking along the passage, he could see the door of the sitting room ajar, and when he put his hand to the brass bell handle and pulled it he expected to hear no more than a little clatter somewhere in the distance, a summons that would be unanswered, and then a voice—sudden and a little querulous.
